We're generous. We work together, sharing knowledge and experience to solve problems. We tell it like it is and respect everyone.

We're responsible. We do what we say we'll do and keep our promises. We remember that we work for a charity and use our resources effectively.

About Citizens Advice Camden

Citizens Advice Camden is one of the leading free independent advice providers in the borough of Camden. Last year we assisted over 11,000 local people with over 36,000 issues securing over £6.6 million in extra income for clients.

Citizens Advice Camden works to change the lives of people who live, work and study in Camden. We exist to make sure people have the information, advice and confidence they need to make informed decisions about issues that affect them directly, and to take positive and independent action to improve their own lives. We do this by providing free, confidential and impartial advice to people on their rights and responsibilities. We also collect evidence and lobby to improve the policies and practices that adversely impact on people's lives.

For 80 years Citizens Advice Camden has been providing the communities of Camden with advice and guidance on issues such as debt, welfare benefits, employment and housing. Our services are tailored to meet the needs of the communities we serve. The advice and support we offer is provided through our telephone Adviceline (0300 330 1157), via our website www.camdencabservice.org.uk, and through appointments. We also provide services to users of various locations such as health centres, The Royal Free Hospital Renal and Oncology services, Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital, and Birkbeck College.

Citizens Advice Camden is an independent charity (291955), a company limited by guarantee (1909828) and a member of the high profile national organisation, Citizens Advice, which requires us to abide by a range of robust quality and membership standards which are assessed each quarter and subject to a three year external audit by Citizens Advice.

Camden is a vibrant and diverse borough. With business centres such as Holborn, Euston and Kings Cross, exclusive residential areas such as Hampstead and Highgate as well as areas of deprivation such as Kilburn, Kings Cross and Gospel Oak, every part of Camden has areas of relative affluence alongside relative poverty.

Our Income and Resources

Citizens Advice Camden is funded by a number of organisations including: the London Borough of Camden, Citizens Advice, Great Ormond Street Hospital Children's Charity, Royal Free Hospital NHS Trust, The Hampstead Wells and Campden Trust, The City Bridge Trust, The HS2 Camden Fund, ThamesReach, the National Lottery and Elfrida Rathbone. The expected annual turnover for 2018/19 is £1.1 million. For further information see the Report and Financial Statements for the year ended 31 March 2018 available on the Charity Commission website.

We have a highly skilled and motivated professional paid staff group who are assisted by 120 volunteers. Roles for volunteers include administration, reception, telephone assessors, advisors and caseworkers. All volunteers are supervised and supported by paid staff. Our volunteer group contributed 39,000 hours last year.

Our Users

Our clients come from some of the most deprived wards in Camden and over half of them self-identify as disabled or have a long term health problem. Many are in low paid employment and have multiple and complex problems they are unable to resolve without support. The largest areas of enquiries are: welfare benefits and debt matters but housing and employment issues are on the increase.

The future

As an organisation we are always looking to the future and planning ways in which we can make our services even more accessible, impactful and relevant in these changing times. In planning for the future Citizens Advice Camden must take account of changes in the local, regional and national environment. There are major changes that are increasing the demand for advice services including:

- welfare reform and the roll out of Universal Credit
- low income and income deprivation in Camden
- Brexit
- the growing demand for adult social care
- the shortage of affordable housing in London

We need to work to meet the growing demand. It needs to be easier for our clients to access our services; we need to both protect face to face resources, and meet changing clients' needs by the increasing use of technology and telephony.

We need to develop new partnerships and working relationships, deciding what we can offer and when we should refer clients seamlessly to other services.

We need to explore new funding models, looking at how we generate new, sustainable sources of income for our services.

Trustee Role

The Trustees of Citizens Advice Camden share responsibility for the charity's performance in meeting its Objects as set out in its Articles of Association. The Trustees must also ensure that the organisation's actions conform to the legal and governance framework of the relevant Companies Act and to the Charity Commission.
